

computer
emporium

Helping YOU Use Computers More Efficiently

STUPID COMPUTER TRICKS 2014

Docking Stations

You probably have a laptop, maybe it's evolved into being the only computer you really use, and you still have the old monitor, keyboard, mouse from your tower or desktop style computer.

If you want to use these full size monitor and keyboard with your laptop you might want to try a docking station.

A docking station is a box that stays permanently connected to your peripherals like your monitor, keyboard, mouse and printer and is ready for fast connection when you bring the laptop home and plug it into the dock, using only one cable.

You must have a USB 3.0 port on your laptop to make all of these devices work properly through one port.

Docking stations start at under $100 for all this convenience.

Ask about Docking Stations at Computer Emporium.